

CSHR SCHOLARSHIP FOR 3RD EDITION OF ASSER-CSHR ONLINE SUMMER PROGRAMME 'INTERNATIONAL SPORT & HUMAN RIGHTS' 2024

Eligible candidates:

The scholarship is open to outstanding master students, PhD candidates and/or civil society representatives from underrepresented backgrounds, including but not limited to individuals from global majority, disadvantaged or marginalised communities. We encourage applicants who bring diverse perspectives and experiences to apply.

The scholarship covers:

- Tuition fee of €150
- Course materials

The scholarship does not cover any other costs that may be associated with a candidate's participation in the Online Programme.

Application procedure:

Please fill out this form and upload your CV by 21 April, 20:00 CET. If you are successful, you will be notified of the result by 30 April 2024.

Selection procedure:

We particularly encourage underrepresented groups, including those from the global majority to apply. Scholarship applications will be reviewed by a panel of professionals from the Centre for Sport and Human Rights. The Centre for Sport and Human Rights will directly pay the tuition fee to the Asser Institute but selected candidates need to register themselves via the Asser Institute's website.

Contact and more information:

daniela.heerdt@sporthumanrights.org

More information on the Online Summer Programme here.

